"Government ministers can't be allowed to use their position and their influence for personal gain. If the Prime Minister or any other cabinet member has done anything inappropriate, we will investigate and take the appropriate action. "For this inquiry to be done properly, the Chancellor and his officials need to work closely with the Electoral Commission to provide the information that they require." Sir John is to host a special debate in the House of Commons at 7pm on Wednesday, March 20. This will be the first time parliament has spoken to a committee since the general election. ITV will broadcast a live studio debate between Sir John and Nigel Lawson, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Geoffrey Howe, former Foreign Secretary, which will be chaired by Sir John. Asked what his message to David Cameron would be, Sir John said: "No politics. Just law. We'll be speaking in a political vacuum. We'll be speaking as someone who has spent his working life in the law." FIND OUT MORE Our subscribers tell us what they really think about the issues that matter to them.
